Monsignor Bukay

The 1968 LANCE staff dedicates this yearbook to the Very Reverend Joseph Bukay in congratulations for his acquiring the title of Monsignor.

We thank Monsignor Bukay
for all his help to the class of 1968
as the students' Spiritual and Athletic advisor, teacher, and friend.

"An 'interior' appears at the heart of beings, as it were seen through a rent ... this 'interior' should obtrude itself as existing everywhere in nature from all time.
... In every region of space and time ... co-extensive with their Without there is a Within to things."

Administration

Monsignor Joseph Bukay

Sr. Marie Rose Julie

Our faculty of Bishop Fenwick High School is dedicated to the maximum development of the whole student through a balanced education. With this guidance, and the dynamic interactions of school life, we at Fenwick are striving to become the kind of people whose lives of service will help build a better society.

Monsignor Joseph Bukay instructs students in Religion II, III, and IV. Outside the classroom Father works on his service-to-people program called the Kennedy club, and moderates the Fathers' club and the athletic program.

Under the direction of Sr. Marie Rose Julie, principal, school life is interesting and enjoyable. The students, being placed in a trusting atmosphere, gain freedom through responsibilities.

Sr. Anne Elizabeth is kept busy with the duties of vice-principal and teacher. This year she instructs students in Religion II, Latin II, and personal typing. Sister hopes to instill in students the practice of individual achievement.

Sr. Anne Elizabeth (405)

Sr. Julie Miriam

Fine Arts

The arts are presented for the student who appreciates a well-rounded education which provides for a broader means of self-expression.

Sr. Julie Miriam teaches Choral I, II, and Fine Arts. Through music, Sister wants her students "to know something of beauty; the forms it takes, the many ways in which it is revealed, the sometimes unexpected places in which we find it, and the art of expressing it." Sister conducts the Glee club.

Miss Monica Tracy, a newcomer to Fenwick's faculty, is head of the art department. In teaching freshman and graphic arts, Miss Tracy believes "experimentation is the way in which a student learns." Her other subjects include mechanical drawing and physical education.

Miss Monica Tracey

English

English, a major field of study, becomes animate through revealed concepts of literatures' authors, and a student's self-expression through composition.

Sr. Kathleen Elizabeth instructs students in the subjects of Religion I, II, and English I. Sister is convinced that the "open-minded and communicative youth of today will succeed."

Sr. Charles Ann instructs students in English Literature, English Composition, Religion III, and IV. Sister values teaching because of the "opportunity it gives in working with the students." Sr. Charles moderates the school newspaper, THE WICK.

English is taught by Sr. Bernadette Marie, who says that she is "personally motivated by the principles of sincerity" in her teaching. Sister moderates the Alumni association, in addition to her teaching of Advanced English IV, literature, and composition.

Sr. Kathleen Elizabeth (102)

Sr. Charles Ann (401)

Sr. Bernadette Marie (403)

Mr. Lloyd Wescott (306)

Sr. Winifred Julie (203)

Mr. Lloyd Wescott, who believes in reaching the students at their own level, is convinced that ultimately, each must decide. He expands the realm of his English III, IV, and Religion IV classes through concept studies. Also, Mr. Wescott coaches football and baseball teams.

Sr. Winifred Julie teaches English I, Latin I, and Religion II. Sister believes every student has creative abilities, and with this belief, aims toward helping the student discover his own potential.

Sr. Agnes Josepha's curriculum includes Latin II and English III. Sister believes in "setting a goal for her students, leaving the attainment of that goal to the individual student." Sister moderates the National Honor society and the Know English club.

Sr. Agnes Josepha (305)

Sr. Mona (195)

Miss Sandra Welch (201)

Miss Sandra Welch teaches English II and Math I. She desires "to help students make value judgments in the various situations that they will encounter in their lives."

To "open young minds to the creative possibilities of living" is the aim of Sr. Mona in her English III classes. Sister also teaches Religion I and moderates the Debate club.

Guidance

Mr. Philip Hopkins, the guidance counselor at Fenwick, is chiefly concerned with the students' futures by helping them to make wise career and college choices. He is always available at the guidance office for anyone interested in information on colleges, various careers, and job opportunities.

Understanding and patience are key words in describing Miss Mary B. Murray. Her interested help, as secretary in the guidance department, has aided many students in their efforts toward college acceptance or job preparation.

Mr. Philip Hopkins

Miss Mary Murray

Sr. Ellen St. Thomas (104)

Sr. Agnes Denise (103)

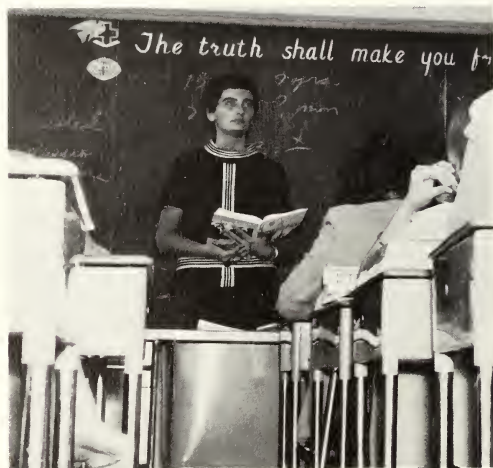

Language

Languages are stressed as avenues of communications between the peoples of the world.

Sr. Ellen St. Thomas teaches Spanish I, II, III, and Religion I, and acts as moderator of the Drama club. Sr. Ellen believes that the "purpose of education is to inform the whole person, to foster attitudes of honesty and integrity, and to help the student develop a sensitivity to the needs of others as persons."

Sr. Agnes Denise teaches Religion I, French I and II. Sister directs her teaching toward developing the concept of language skill through the study of a foreign language. In addition, Sister moderates the Baton squad, and co-moderates the Cine club.

A new faculty member this year, Miss Janet Moriarty teaches French I through French IV. Miss Moriarty is interested "not only in the language, but in every aspect of it: art, literature, and customs."

Miss Janet Moriarty

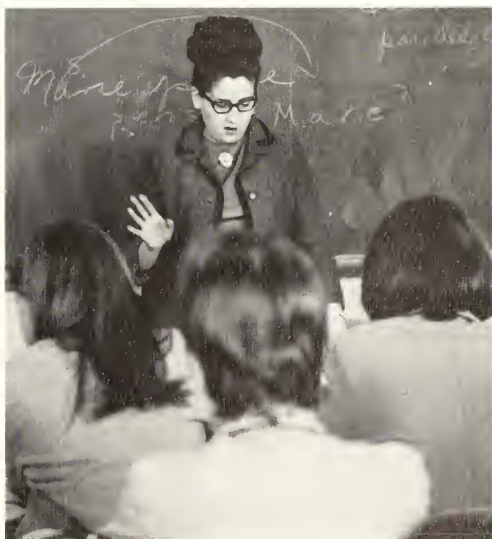

Sr. Ann Mary teaches Latin I, English Literature I, and English Composition I. Through teaching, Sister aims at "helping the student to discover that in reaching out for the truth, he shall be free."

A teacher of English II and French II and III classes is Miss Patricia McWalters, who aims at "sending the students out asking questions." She is co-moderator of the newly formed French Cine club.

Sr. Ann Mary (106)

Miss Patricia McWalters (205)

Library

The library serves as the school reference area, after school study hall, and a haven for the readers' enjoyment.

In charge of the library is Sr. Madeline Louise. Although her main objective at present is the addition of many new books, Sister never fails to encourage both students and faculty to take advantage of the over 7,000 volumes already in the library, particularly the reference material.

Assisting in library duties is Sr. Julianne of the Sacred Heart. Sister also manages the bookstore during after school hours.

Sr. Julianne S.H.

Music

Mr. Galen Wentworth

Perhaps an unseen new member of Fenwick's faculty is Mr. Galen Wentworth. Long hours spent in training the band have contributed to the present student-conducting by band members.

Mr. Thomas Grondin

Mathematics

Mr. Paul Lyness

The math program develops an orderly and constructive method of logical thought.

Math is Mr. Thomas Grondin's field. He believes that "the student should discipline himself to do his best in any subject, whether he likes it or not."

Through instruction of Modern Math and Trigonometry, Advanced Math IV, I, and Algebra II, Mr. Paul Lyness aims at "teaching the students to think, which will prepare them to make decisions in the future." He coaches J.V. football, basketball, and Varsity tennis, in spare time.

Sr. Teresa Patricia instructs students in Advanced Math II, III, and IV, PSSC Physics, and Religion IV. Sister is also advisor to the Student Council and St. Benedict's Guild. Through teaching, Sister aims to help students become loyal and good citizens.

Sr. Edward Kathleen, instructor of Math IV, Algebra II, geometry, and Religion III, moderates the Math club. In class, Sister seeks "to create an atmosphere in which each student is actively involved and motivated to learn."

Sr. Teresa Patricia (402)

Sr. Edward Kathleen (304)

Sciences

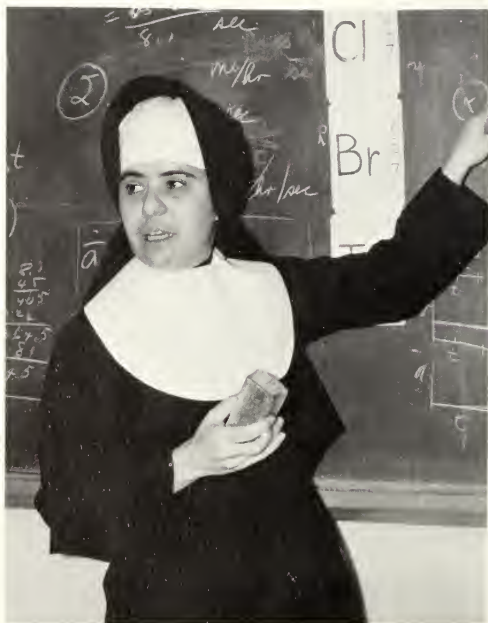

The science department realizes the importance of laboratory experimentation in order to provide a practical development of scientific thought.

The teaching of biology is Miss Sandra Shirock's field. Miss Shirock believes teaching should include "a friendly exchange of ideas." Her extra-curricular activities are girls' sports, especially basketball.

Sr. Dorothy Marie teaches Chem Study, chemistry, physics, and Religion IV. Sister's aim is to encourage students to think, and to enjoy thinking-through problems. Sister moderates the LANCE and the Service club.

Miss Sandra Shirock (206)

Sr. Dorothy Marie (404)

Sr. Catherine George (303)

Mr. Edward Monroe

Sr. Catherine George teaches chemistry, biology, and geometry. Sister considers these courses a "means of contacting the student, and helping him to understand, or appreciate, his relationships with science."

A new staff addition to Fenwick, Mr. Edward Monroe instructs freshman and junior science classes, with hopes of "preparing interested students for future work." The Science club also profits from his guidance.

Social Sciences

Sr. Gabriel Marie (204)

Mr. Alex Kulevich (302)

The social sciences help keep the student in contact with both the past and the present. The student gains a broader understanding of the world, governments, and economics.

Sr. Gabriel Marie teaches U.S. and World History, Religion II, and Personal Typing. Sister believes that her purpose as a teacher is "to create good Christian men and women that will go forth and witness." Sister is moderator of the Cheerleaders and the Pep squad.

A history and current events teacher, Mr. Alex Kulevich is a football coach and head of athletics at Fenwick. He feels "teaching is like coaching a sport; you teach students how to play the game fairly, to compete within the rules, and to strive to win."

Sr. Catherine St. Michael, whose subjects include geometry and government, feels that it is necessary for the teacher to adapt to the individual student. Sister assumes secretarial duties in the office after school.

Sr. Catherine St. Joseph teaches Religion I, World History, and Physical Science. Sister aims to reach the individual students in a class in preference to the class as a whole. Sister moderates the freshman Service club.

Mr. Ralph LeDuc teaches economics, government, and Religion III. After school, he is engaged in coaching the backfield of the football team. Through teaching, Mr. LeDuc hopes to impress on his students a few ideals of freedom, what their country is, and how to face life.

Sr. Catherine St. Michael (202)

Sr. Catherine St. Joseph (101)

Mr. Ralph LeDuc (301)

Seniors

"For the enthusiasts ... not only is it better to be than not to be,
but it is always possible, indeed it is their supreme interest in life to grow towards ever more being."

— Pierre Teilhard de Chardin

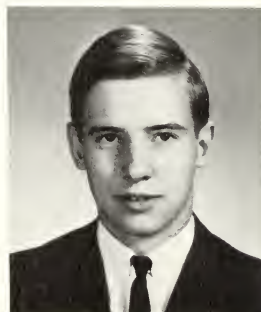

a senior's thoughts

Senior Year - it went by almost too fast. The strange thing is that I wasn't fully aware of it until graduation had come, and gone. After the tensions of applications and college boards had passed, I began to reflect on school, on Fenwick, on the four years of my life that had been spent behind its doors.

Scanning memories of Ring Days, Cotillions, Senior Elections, Freshman Days, the Prom, and my first days at Fenwick, I began to wonder if there was something else that could also speak for four years of living and learning. I began to search the days I could remember, through Math classes, assemblies, Folk Masses, through movies and rallies, until I stumbled upon a smile, a face, a friend, someone willing to help, someone caring when I most needed it. It was then that I realized that the important lesson had been teaching itself to me every day of my life. There is so much good in everyone, and all I have to do is to look for it. Then I laughed at myself. If I had only realized this years ago, I might not have been so critical, and at times so cruel. I know now that I have gained something. I have a future in front of me. I have another chance to live what I have learned. Now, more than ever, my life has only begun.

Cheerleaders, Baton Squad, Color Guard add sparkle to rallies and games

J.V. cheerleaders (sitting) support varsity in the "Victory Song".

Head majorette Cynthia Bernier leads Thanksgiving Day victory march up Margin street.

Varsity cheerleaders practice their routines before the game.

Leading half-time festivities is the Fenwick Baton squad.

The Color Guard, carrying the American flag, school banner and rifles, added color and ceremony to the excited atmosphere of the football games. Under Color Sergeant Madeline Pimenta, the Guard achieved precision for the pre-game and half-time festivities, during which they preceded the Band in marching down the field.

Football and basketball seasons would not be complete without the spirit and zest of the Cheerleaders. The varsity squad, led by Jean McGlynn and Rosemary Keating, began practice sessions at the beginning of the summer.

During August, the seniors attended Cheering camp in Pennsylvania, where they walked off with top award, the Spirit Stick. The squad came home with a first place trophy from the North Shore Cheering Competition. The cheerleaders promote enthusiasm among the fans as they lead cheers and perform routines.

The junior varsity squad supported the varsity at the games. They were captained by Denise Smith and Katherine Mizzi. At the CYO tournament held at Boston College, the team captured a plaque for second place.

The Fenwick Baton Squad performed both at the rallies and football games. Led by head majorette Cynthia Bernier, band leader Virginia Riley, and squad leader Ann White, the "twirlers" opened each rally with their routines. During each football game the girls helped liven-up the half-time, and following each win, led the Victory Parade up Margin Street.

Practice tempers Crusaders

Fenwick's program of hard work and sweat, directed by Coaches Kulevich, LeDuc, Lyness and Westcott, begins in late August. From the first grueling session, the Crusaders realize the value of practice. Determination and stamina are required to withstand the late summer work-outs; the aches and pains, the exhaustion, the dirt and grime, the empty feeling, the tension.

It is a special combination of coach leadership and player will-power that gives Fenwick a great team. Each player knows the Coach's words, "Go to the Hill!", Fenwick's unique contribution to football. They endure the crawl, the belly bounces, calisthenics and the psych-up drills, as necessary preparation for game-time.

As the Crusaders charged onto the gridiron, the fans anticipated four quarters of lively playmaking by the team, which was led by co-captains John Jaworski and Richard Kingsley. The shoulder to shoulder clashes provided action, sportsmanship and, almost always, victory.

Keen defense distinguished the Crusaders' skill. A well-fused line gave up only twenty-eight points to opponents. On the offensive, a total of one hundred sixty-six points was amassed.

The bench was alive, also. The Crusaders were warming-up, substituting or stealing a few seconds rest. The coaches paced. Mr. Kulevich reported to the announcer on play maneuvers. An ordered chaos prevailed over the field.

The crowds made their own action. From the press box to the stands and snack bar, Fenwick fans shouted, applauded and encouraged each team move.

Effective team-power lands Crusaders in second place

Crusaders' positive playing on the gridiron caught Fenwick the Catholic Central League's number two position. The squad finished the season with a wide margin of eight wins and one loss.

Despite several injuries early in the year, the varsity remained strong defensively and offensively. They were not scored upon in five out of nine games. The only loss occurred when Xaverian scored eight points for an 8-0 victory. The Crusaders then went on to win five straight.

The highlight of the season was the Thanksgiving Day game. Playing in constant heavy rain and thick mud, the Crusaders continued to fight their hardest and climaxed the year with a 20-0 score over St. Mary's of Lynn. Acknowledged standouts for the '68 squad were John Jaworski, awarded the Best Lineman trophy, and John Farley, who received the Best Back award.

Hoopmen supply action with tight scores

Captain Kevin Kelley led the Crusaders to a 7-13 tally. The outcome was that the Fenwick Hoopmen placed seventh in the Catholic Central League standings.

The thriller games of the year were played with city rival, Peabody High School. The Peabody team beat Fenwick with a close, last minute score of 44-42. Then, in Fenwick's homecoming game, the tables were turned to produce a 71-50 Crusader victory over Peabody.

This season's playmaking centered around strong defensive hustlers Kevin Kelley, John Farley and Richard Deschamps.

Winter track for the 1967-68 season was a year of experience. Coach Thomas Grondin worked with a young team and they lost the season with a 0-10 meet record.

It was not an unprofitable term, however. The track team still retains a large squad after losing six seniors. The hours of building goes to supply the needed training and experience for the underclass members.

Fenwick's weightlifting program is designed as a supplementary activity for the gridiron men. Through lifting, the football players and other sports enthusiasts keep in condition and strive for peak fitness.

Fenwick's newest club has had its second season. The wrestling team, under the supervision of Coach Edward Monroe and Captain Arthur Kanellos, held work-out sessions twice a week. The squad engaged in inter-club competition.

thanks

With the proud satisfaction of accomplishment deep within each person who had some part in constructing this book, we, the 1968 LANCE staff, offer this part of us to you. The journalism room has been the scene of much hard work, but the long hours have brought the enjoyment which comes from working together toward a goal.

We thank the teachers for their patience with all our activities, schedules, and last minute arrangements. We thank the students, who let us cooperate with them, through their cooperation with us.

Special thanks is due to those professional men, Mr. Deschamps our printer, Mr. Weir our yearbook representative, and Mr. Ginsberg our photographer, who went out of their way to help us.

This book owes a debt of profound gratitude to the creative coordinators, Roni Gorski, Bob Delande, and Paul Kerwin, who organized, imagined, and sweated, under immense pressures, for the completion of this book. To all those others who gave innumerable hours of devoted work to this book, unlimited thanks is also due.

The staff members offer their sincerest thanks to Sr. Dorothy Marie, our advisor. Through the advice, understanding, encouragement, and trusting freedom that she gave us, we were able to overcome the endless amount of obstacles that were prevalent during production. With this guidance, and with our experiences throughout the course of the book's assembly, we have gained a better understanding of the life, in this world, that is today.

The people of this generation have the distinction of living in an era of evolution. Man is progressing toward a more meaningful way of living. The LANCE staff has tried to build this book around new concepts of life. We have depicted a depth coverage of the interval in time, 1967-68, by means of prologue, division page, senior section, and epilogue copy. We have included candid pictures and flowing copy throughout the student life section, which intermingles activities, organizations, and events. This section is an original style created by the 1968 staff. We have consistently used candid pictures throughout the book (exceptions are the senior portraits and underclassmen groups) because we feel life is not stereo-typed. Life is a candid experience. We hope you will look deeply into the art of this book, and accept its ideas as symbols of the now generation.

Epilogue

... Life '68 has been ... a new beginning ... a search for life ... face-to-face with oneself ... people awareness ... loving ... peace in solitude ... the constant rhythm of time ... its personal tempo, fast and slow ... maturing ... taking that step forward ... bearing the times ... the power within us to make hope ... creating a personal world ... thinking bigger than life ... the marvel of being alive ... discovery ... finding out life's things heartbreaks ... working things out together ... a preparation to leave ... Life '68 promises ... "a brand new world of all-at-onceness" ... going our separate ways ... college ... work ... war ... life will die ... life will continue ... life is going to happen.
